About the Open Government License

The Controller of Her Majesty’s Stationery Office (HMSO) has developed this license as a tool to enable Information Providers in the public sector to license the use and re-use of their Information under a common open license. The Controller invites public sector bodies owning their own copyright and database rights to permit the use of their Information under this license.

The Controller of HMSO has authority to license Information subject to copyright and database right owned by the Crown. The extent of the Controller’s offer to license this Information under the terms of this license is set out in the UK Government Licensing Framework.

This is version 4.0 of the Open Government License. The Controller of HMSO may, from time to time, issue new versions of the Open Government License. However, you may continue to use Information licensed under this version should you wish to do so.

These terms have been aligned to be interoperable with any Creative Commons Attribution License, which covers copyright, and Open Data Commons Attribution License, which covers database rights and applicable copyrights.

Further context, best practice and guidance can be found in the UK Government Licensing Framework section on The National Archives website.
